THE VALUE OF DISINTERESTED VIRTUE.-Life is short, and you have much work to de. Work for others as well as yourself. You will not pretend you are never selfish. You are more or less so every day of your existence. In the very face of conviction you play the part of contracted littleness. How often do you forget the interests of others, in eager desires for yourself? and how readily you silence the whispers of reason by calling in for precedent's respectable example. Yet you know the value of disinterested virtue, and how that avarice, or any other selfish passion, can never secure your felicity; but the appearances of the moment persuade you otherwise, and hence the cause of error and crime. Study, therefore, not only to be convinced of truth, but to establish it firmly in your mind, beyond the reach of doubt. Then, not till then, your character will be uniform, and your principle strong enough to carry you through the trials and temptations of life. No one can be happy long unless he is governed by virtue; and to be regulated by this sublim principle, he must carly learn to make any sacrifice, even life, and all that renders it sweet in the eyes of mankind.

WASHINGTON'S LEDGER .- Among the Washington relics which lately came into the possession of the Government is a ledger, in which the Father of his Country kepthis personal accounts for a number of years. The book is reported as full of odd items which an admiring country will be astonished to hear about at this late day, although a century ago they may have been well enough. It is recorded in the handwriting of the Father himself how much that illustrious man lost or won at cards, the sums he expended for play lickets for himself and friends, when for play tickets for himself and friends, when he went to town, and what it cost him for hair powder, black silk stockings, as well as for claret which is as favorite a beverage during the warm season new as it was in the stirring times just before the Revolution, although the men of the present day are able to economize on their powder and black silk stockings. There are indications in some parts of the unique accounts that the man who was first in the hearts of his countrymen never missed a horse race if he could help it, and it seems to have been a common kind of human being enough to bet on the wrong horse more than was good for one side of his led-ger. Perhaps, in the interest of this gentleman's reputation, the Government had better not dig up any more relies of the Father of his Country. It would be shocking to the extreme to see our young men growing up in imitation of him, and our Presidents all trying to become second

JANNEY'S WHARF.

ICE CREAM, SODA WATER, &c. ICE CREAM.

My Ice Cream Manufactory, one of the largest in Virginia, still continues to supply private customers, Sunday schools, excursions, picnics, fairs, festivals and associations, as well as the trade, with that SUPERIOR CREAM that has made a name in this community, and is known everywhere as BRENGLE'S ICE CREAM. I could easily reduce its price by lowering its quality, but good cream, of fresh, pure, wholesome ingredients, cannot be furnished at a less price than I serve it. Of course, I could "grade my cream by the price," but my cream would lose the good name that years of fair dealing have won for it. I ask that persons abroad ordering "Brengle's Cream" from third parties will assure themselves that the cream sent is certainly rom my establishment. I warrant my cream, and do not wish that inferior cream, sent out as mine, may injure its reputation. It is my aim to furnish the BEST CKEAM IN AMERICA, and my customers are satisfied that I do so.
